

*First Employe Killed
In Action Honored
At Greenwich Mills*

The Greenwich Mills paused momentarily at 11 a. m., yesterday to honor its first employe to die in battle, Pvt. Leonard C. Moone of Summit, who was reported Wednesday to have been killed in France.

At the same time the executive board of Local 108, T. W. U. A. C. I. O., adopted resolutions on Moone's death, which follow:

"Resolved, that we, the members of Local 108 of the Greenwich Mills extend to the family of the late Leonard C. Moone, who has made the supreme sacrifice on the battlefields of France, our deepest and sincere sympathy.

"Out of respect for the first casualty that the Greenwich Mills has suffered, the superintendent, Henry F. Ames, closed the entire mill and everyone stood in silence for a minute at their respective places of work on Friday, Aug. 18, 1944 at 11 a. m.

"That his sacrifice may not have been in vain is the hope and consolation that we express to his family.

"Be it further resolved that a gold star be placed in a conspicuous post in the shipping department in which he was employed."

Pvt. Leonard C. Moone
Killed in France

PVT. LEONARD C. MOONE, 34, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moone Summit, Killed in action in France.

Private Moone

Pvt. Moone was killed in action in France on June 28, according to a telegram received by his parents. He was in the Infantry and had been in service since February, 1942.

Besides his parents he leaves five brothers, all in service. They are: Pvt. Russell F. Moone, now in England; Sgt. Richard L. Moone, in England; Cpl. Harold L. Moone, in North Africa; Pvt. Bernard W. Moone, in the Southwest Pacific, and Pfc. Edmund W. Moone, in England. A sister, Mrs. Mildred Adams, of Summit, also survives.

Before entering the Army, Pvt. Moone was employed at the Greenwich Worsted Mill in East Greenwich: JUNE 28, 1944